

Chief Andrew Weaver

Andrew J. Weaver
Fire Chief
Southeastern Adams Volunteer
Emergency Services

Andrew Weaver has been the fire chief of SAVES since the consolidated department began operations on January 1, 2005. Chief Weaver joined the former McSherrystown Fire Co. in 1972 as a junior firefighter. After graduating high school he enlisted in the United States Air Force as a fire protection specialist. He returned home to become the fire chief of McSherrystown Fire Co. in 1986. He held that position from 1986-1991 and from 1993 until January 2005.

Chief Weaver has served on committees at the county level with the Adams County Volunteer Emergency Services Association, and is a past assistant county fire marshal.

Chief Weaver is employed by the City of Harrisburg Bureau of Fire as a career Fire Lieutenant. He is married and has two adult children and resides in McSherrystown.
